having spent the whole of my 20s in rainy seattle without a car—yeah, i basically lived in jeans and hoodies

"cause everybody knows there's a big market for good used brains around halloween, so it would make sense to manufacture some cheaper semi-defective ones.

so before thrusting into a new exercise program, make sure your dog is ready to work out by assessing his capabilities versus the demands of the sport.

the good news is that through lots of back and forth between zbrush and maya i've learnt a lot to help streamline my workflow.