the entire economy and almost everything in it has been fueled by speculative mania for almost 30 years this brings up the obvious question: who is reporting medical errors? usually it is the patient or the patient's surviving family sexual abuse may result in physical injury (though most often it does not) the shortest, most general chant is called the blessing way